A Man will Chase a Nickel

Through a set of accounts ninety days old, and raise the very old Ned to find it, and yet we know of scores of you farmers around here who have no better cover for your expensive machinery than the broad canopy of Heaven.

That sometimes leaks, you know, and then again gets sizzling hot, and the damage done by rust and decay would more than pay for enough boards to build good sheds.

Maybe it won't make any difference but we'll tell you that we sell lumber—all kinds—and will make you an estimate on anything from a little pig pen to a big house. What is it you need?

Woman's Club Entertains.

Members Lay Themselves out to Prove They are Good Fellows.

Women, as a general thing, rather delight in the old saying that the pathway to a man's heart is thru his stomach. Also, in order to thoroughly domesticate a man he must be well fed. It may have been these facts that prompted the members of the Woman's club to start off their evening's entertainment last Thursday with a first class banquet, thinking thereby to get the men in attendance in either a good natured condition, or a semi-comatose state, like a gorged boar, after which, they no doubt figured, he could be handled without danger.

The Woman's club, as a general thing, is all that its name implies. That is, it is composed entirely of women. What they do at their meetings, outside of talk, nobody knows. Of course they get out a program each year and take up a course of study, but the average man understands that this is only a bluff. It is just like when a fellow starts down town in the evening, telling his wife there is some work he must do at the office. It is only a bluff, and she knows it is a bluff. She could easily call up the office after he leaves and find he was not there, but nobody but an "old cat" would do such a thing as that, and he knows it, and she knows it, so the bluff goes.

Well on Thursday evening the members of the Woman's Club opened their hearts and invited in the men folks. Of course the men folks were tickled to death to go. They have been dying of envy to attend those meetings of the club ever since the institution was started, so that this chance was just what they were waiting for. The session was held at the home of Dr. and Mrs. W. D. Harvie, who have a very nice place for such gatherings and it has also the advantage of being in the suburbs and widely separated from the neighbors, so that any unusual demonstration would not disturb anybody, as might be the case if in the heart of the city.

The men were informed beforehand that there was a good food in prospect, so that most of them went without their supper and appeared on the scene early. There were a few exceptions to this rule, but they only delayed the game for a short time and put a finer edge on the appetites of those who had responded on schedule time. At about eight o'clock everything seemed to be all right and those present were invited into the dining rooms. Here the tables were decorated with green and white in a very tasteful manner, as was also the other parts of the house. The following menu was served:

Consomme	Salted Wafers
Radishes
Blue Points	Olives
Sauce Piquante
Stuffed Roast Turkey, Giblet Gravy
Riced Potatoes	Cranberry Jelly
Bread	Sweet Pickles
Imperial Punch
French Fruit Salad	Cottage Cheese
Wafers
Ice Cream	Spice Cake
Angel Food
Salted Almonds	Bouillon
Cafe Noir

Mrs. B. M. Vaughan filled the position of toast mistress and did it very acceptably. Mrs. W. F. Kellogg responded to the toast "Our Guests," and when she got thru the men folks were in doubt whether they should feel flattered or snubbed by what they had heard. However, they took it good naturedly, as no doubt they were expected to.

Judge Gaynor responded to the toast of "Restless Woman." Mr. Gaynor complained that he had only been given a few minutes to prepare anything on the subject, but after he had got warmed up to the subject, it was evident that the had dropped into a situation where a great deal of preparation was not necessary. When a man has been married as long as the judge has it will generally be found that his ideas on women are pretty firmly rooted.

"To Life" was responded to by Miss Carolyn Briere, in an appropriate poem which was very suitable for the occasion.

"The Ladies" was the subject of Mr. Vaughan's response, and he handled the matter at some length, doing very well, considering the small amount of material he had to work on.

"The Woman's Club" was responded to by Dr. W. D. Harvie, and the doctor said some very nice things about them, all of which was, no doubt, duly recorded by each lady present, with marginal notes, to be ## referred back to at any future time when necessary.

At the conclusion of the banquet, the dining room was cleared and things put in readiness for dancing. Colcord's orchestra was in attendance and they kept things moving. As it was ladies night in every sense of the word, they were given the chance to choose the partners the greater part of the time, and they saw to it that the men folks did their duty. The fun was kept up until about midnight and when it was all over Doc's polished dining room floor looked as if there had been a county fair held on it. However, everybody had a good time, and this was apparently what the ladies had intended they should have. Those in attendance were Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Youker, Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Vaughan, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Kellogg, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Harvie, Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Hambrecht, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Gaynor, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Church, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Drumb, Mrs. Beniah Biron, Mrs. G. R. Gardner, Miss Mabel Hamilton, Miss Mae Jefferson, Miss Carolyn Briere, Miss Etta Michaels, Miss Jessie Stetzer, Miss Wardle, Miss Mabel Gardner, Messrs. D. Waters, H. Wiperman, M. Brumhaum, James Hamilton and Chas. Johnson.

Death of Mrs. Nash.

Mrs. Nora Nash, mother of Mayor L. M. Nash and T. E. Nash, died at her home in this city on Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock, aged 82 years. Mrs. Nash had been in poor health for some time, and was quite low for some time on Saturday, but she rallied so completely that nobody anticipated the end was so near. She was taken worse again Sunday morning and continued to fail until the end came in the afternoon.

The funeral occurred this morning from the Catholic church, of which Mrs. Nash has been a life long member. Rev. F. Van Rossum officiating. Mrs. Nash's husband died some thirty-five years ago and was buried at Milwaukee in company with other members of the family.

Six children are left to mourn the loss of their mother, they being T. E. Nash and L. M. Nash of this city, John L. Nash of Chicago, Mrs. Matt White and Miss Maggie Nash of this city and Mrs. James O'Brien of Milwaukee. For a number of years past Mrs. Maggie Nash has lived with her mother, and given her constant care, and to her the loss of her mother will no doubt be even more keenly felt than by the rest of the relatives.

Owing to her extreme age and poor health for a number of years past, Mrs. Nash was but little known to the younger people and more recent arrivals in our city, but to the older ones her loss will be severely felt.

New Hospital Progressing.

Work on the new hospital that is being built by D. R. Evans near the south end of High street is being carried forward as rapidly as possible and it is expected that it will be completed by the middle of November. The new institution will be known as the Riverside General Hospital, and it should prove a popular institution when completed. The roof is now being put on the structure and it is being wired for electric lights.

Football Saturday.

The local high school eleven will open the football season next Saturday by holding a game in this city with the Merrill team. The locals have been doing some good practice for some time past and hope to make a good showing with their opponents from up the line. The lineup of the local team cannot be given at this time. The game will be held on the school campus.

Cut His Fingers.

N. H. Robinson is nursing a sore hand these days as the result of getting his fingers caught in an engine cutter. He had reached into the machine to investigate something that had gone wrong, when his glove caught in the cog and drew his hand in, crushing the first finger off at the first joint and badly lacerating the second finger. It was thought at first that a part of the second finger would have to be amputated, but it is hoped now that it can be saved.

Nominated to Congress.

Dr. A. B. Crawford has been nominated for congress by the social democrats of the tenth district. It is not probable that the doctor expects to be elected this fall, as at the present time the party is not very strong in northern Wisconsin.

DECIDES AGAINST HUNT.

Judge Webb Renders a Decision for the Peshigo Company.

The decision in the famous Hunt case that was tried in this city a little over a year ago, was rendered by Judge Webb last week and decided in favor of the Peshigo company.

The case in all its phases is probably as interesting a suit as was tried in the courts of Wisconsin. R. O. Hunt was tried shortly after the case was first started on the charge of mutilating the records of Oconto county (Shawano before Judge Goodland and was acquitted.

The reported theft of the deed, the stealing of the records of Oconto county, the charges and counter charges made and the prominence of the parties involved have focused the attention of attorneys and people generally on the outcome of the case.

The judge finds that Hunt, or someone else by his procurement, perjured the two missing deeds from the vaults of the Peshigo company; that S. W. Hay, Hunt's half-brother, by Hunt's procurement, falsely altered the records of the two missing deeds in Oconto county before making the certified copies supposed to have been made in 1893; that Hunt, or someone by his procurement, fabricated the seals of Oconto county impressed on the certified copies.

The court further holds that Hunt, for someone by his procurement, forged the so-called Ellis letter, in which W. A. Ellis, secretary of the Peshigo company, admitted away the lands in dispute; that the original deed from Wilson and Dahl was of a half-interest and not a whole interest as claimed by Hunt; that Hunt or someone by his procurement, abstracted the records of the two principal deeds from the Oconto court house and that he had either destroyed them or now has them in his possession or under his control.

The case will undoubtedly be carried to the supreme court.

Prof. Clark to Be Here.

Prof. S. H. Clark of the University of Chicago, will give two lectures under the auspices of the Lincoln High School, Wednesday, October 26th. Prof. Clark, who is at the head of the department of public speaking in the University of Chicago, is recognized as one of the best readers and lecturers in the west or in this country. He has for some years been in great demand at Chautauque, State Teachers Association, in popular lecture courses, etc. The past summer he has been in charge of the work in public speaking and reading in the Chautauque Assembly at Chautauque, New York. During the month of October he gives a series of recitals in Wisconsin, at Janesville, Baraboo, Fort Atkinson, etc.

The afternoon program will be an interpretation of "Hamlet." The evening program will be given to a reading of Steven Phillips' Drama "Ulysses." Both recitals will be held in the Assembly room of the Lincoln High School. The afternoon program will begin at 3:30 p. m., and the evening program at 8:00 p. m.

It is the aim of the school authorities to make the admission as low as possible and meet expenses. An admission of 50 cents will be charged for both recitals or 35 cents a single recital for adults. Children 25 cents for both recitals or 15 cents for a single recital. The proceeds of these recitals will be used for the benefit of the Manual Training Department of the High School.

Roenius-Uehling.

Today at Watertown occurs the marriage of Otto Roenius of this city to Miss Emeline Uehling of Watertown. Miss Francis Uehling, sister to the bride, will be the bridemaid and Fred Roenius will act in the capacity of best man. The ceremony will be performed by Rev. Fred Staff of the Fort Atkinson Congregational church.

Miss Uehling is known to a number of our people, having visited here on several occasions, and is a most charming young lady. Otto needs no words of praise, as he has lived here long enough to be well known for his excellent qualities. Mr. and Mrs. Roenius will make a short wedding tour, after which they will make their home in this city. The Tribune unites with their many friends in extending them the heartiest of congratulations and wishing for them a long and happy wedded life.

The October "Smart Set."

The October number of The Smart Set is a veritable mine of brilliant stories and poems. "Moored," by Anna A. Rogers, is the title of the novelette which opens the issue. It is a story full of power and quiet humor, dealing with the temptation which comes to the young life of a naval officer while he is abroad and she is "moored" at home. The tale leaves a remarkably vivid impression and will attract wide attention.

Hanson-Schwartz.

Cornell Hanson and Miss Alma Schwartz were married on Saturday, September 17th, at the German Lutheran church on the east side. Rev. J. T. L. Bittner officiating. After the ceremony a wedding dinner was served at the home of the bride which was partaken of by a large number of invited guests. Mr. and Mrs. Hanson will make their home at South Centralia, where they entertained their friends quite royally on Sunday evening.

A Tub Full of Love Letters.

The case against George A. Potter for breach of promise to marry $100,000, by Miss Sarah Ham of Duluth, Minn., is being tried at Duluth, Minn., and if the reports from there are true, Potter was quite a loving and ardent wooer. A dispatch from there says: "Sixty-seven letters, each one teeming with words of undying affection, were read in the district court here today in the $100,000 breach of promise suit of Miss Sarah Ham of Duluth, Minn., against George A. Potter, a wealthy lumberman of Duluth. There are 284 more letters to be read to the jury and, according to the plaintiff's attorney there is a whole wash tub besides which can be produced if necessary to prove the contention of affection which Potter bore for the plaintiff was of the genuine character."

A later dispatch from Duluth says: "Miss Sarah H. Ham of Duluth was awarded $20,000 for breach of promise committed by G. A. Potter, the Wisconsin lumberman. The trial lasted a week and brought out the most sensational testimony ever heard in Minnesota. Attorney Potter J. Neff contended that Potter's letters were not such as a man would write to a girl to whom he was engaged.

He asserted that Miss Ham's infidelity was such a shock to Potter that he went insane and was confined in an asylum from 1891 to 1893. After he was liberated it was charged the old affection did not return and the thought of marriage was farthest from his mind.

Attorney Hollister's argument was a bitter arraignment of Potter, whom he characterized as being worse than a savage wolf, alleging that he had taken advantage of an innocent girl and then tried to hush her up.

Judge Ensign, in delivering the charge said that the questions involved were whether the promise was made, whether the plaintiff was married and whether the defendant refused to marry her. Aside from that the question of whether she was good or bad and whether she was under the influence of drugs when a former settlement was made must be left to the jury.

It is expected that the case will be appealed. It has been stated by his representatives that Potter is insolvent and that he would be unable to pay the judgment against him, but in some quarters he is credited with being worth $150,000."

Broke Her Collar Bone.

Miss Marie LaBrot met with quite a serious accident on Sunday afternoon, and as a result she now has a broken collar bone and numerous other bruises and lacerations.

She, in company with Agnes Daly had gone to the Bennett marsh to spend Sunday and that afternoon was returning home, there being in the rig the two mentioned and Emory, Eva and Ruth Bennett. When near the south side one of the horses stumbled and after regaining its feet started off at a lively clip. Miss LaBrot attempted to jump from the rig, but her clothes caught on some part of the buggy and she was dragged quite a distance.

She was quite bad Sunday night and it was feared at one time that she would not live, but is considerably better at this writing. Agnes Daly also jumped from the rig and sustained some minor bruises, but nothing serious.

The Fair at Marshfield.

The Central Wisconsin fair will occur at Marshfield on Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of next week on which occasion it is expected that Marshfield will have one of the greatest things of the kind that has ever been held here. They have a large number of entries for their races, which insures them good sport for the lovers of horsemanship. Then they have secured numerous attractions besides which will add to the amusement for the outsider, and there will be the usual display of farm products and other things of local interest. Governor LaFollette will be there on Thursday afternoon and make a speech. As the railroads are all offering excursion rates there is no reason why there should not be a good crowd go up from here.

May Wrestle Here.

Unless all signs fall the sport loving element of this city will have a chance to see a great wrestling match some time next month between Ed Adamson of St. Louis and Fred Beall of Marshfield. Everybody that knows anything about athletics knows that they are two of the best in the country today and that if they wrestle here the people will be sure of seeing a good clean match with the best man to win. There will not be a big side bet, etc., advertised, but they will simply meet and wrestle for a $200 purse that will be made up by a number of admirers here. If they wrestle here they are deserving of a good house.

Finished Season's Work.

The yard of the Grand Rapids Brick company closed for the season on Saturday. During the past summer they have manufactured a total of a million and a half bricks. Thirty-five men have been employed the greater part of the time and the monthly payroll has amounted to about $1200. Few people appreciate the amount of work done at one of these institutions and the disbursement of wages which occurs during a season.

DEMOCRATIC TICKET.

For President—

ALTON B. PARKER of New York.

For Vice-President—

HENRY G. DAVIS, of W. Virginia.

Governor, George W. Peck, Minn.

Lieutenant Governor, Dr. Henry A. Lathrop, Marshfield.

Secretary of state, James P. Nolan, Manitowish.

Treasurer, Andrew Johnson, Edgerton.

Attorney General, William F. Wolfe, La Crosse.

Railroad Commissioner, Edward L. Hinton, Superior.

Insurance Commissioner, Henry W. Pelzer, Sturgeon Bay.

Congressman, Wells M. Ruggles, Ashland.

Good Words for Lathrop.

The Marshfield Times, a republican paper, has the following to say of the democratic nominee for lieutenant governor:

"The nomination of Dr. Henry A. Lathrop, of this city, as the democratic candidate for lieutenant governor, is the wisest selection that could have been made by that party and will add a power of strength to the ticket in central Wisconsin."

Dr. Lathrop is well known and highly respected throughout the state, but he has a special following in this section. As one of the pioneers of Marshfield he has been identified with the growth of this great country during the period of its transition from a wilderness to its present fine condition, and his influence has ever been for advancement and progress.

Dr. Lathrop will receive the endorsement of hosts and friends of all parties and affiliations, and his eminent fitness for the office to which he aspires over-rides party considerations. Possessing an executive ability and address second to few men in the country, Dr. Lathrop is qualified in every way to become one of the best presiding officers that ever wielded the gavel in the state senate."

PITTSVILLE.

(From the Times.)

After a lingering illness of over a year caused by cancer of the stomach, N. DeNuro passed away Sunday morning, September 11. All that could be done by medical aid was done for him and the loving care of family and friends served only to make his suffering more easy to bear, as death was inevitable. A few weeks ago Mr. DeNuro went to Grand Rapids and had an operation but all to no avail. Death came as a great relief for his suffering had been intense.

Nash Mitchell has received word that Prof. Gallup, assistant to Prof. Rios of Cornell University, one of the foremost clay experts of the United States, will be here this week for the purpose of examining the clay deposits of this vicinity. Mr. Gallup's visit may mean much to this city, and anyone who has clay deposits on their land will do well to see Mr. Mitchell at once.

It will be somewhat of a surprise to some of our readers to know that M. Johns, who has been running a furniture store here for some time, is retiring from business in this city. We regret to see Mr. Johns' store closed up but it is evident that Pittsville, at the present stage of the game, cannot support two furniture stores.

There has been considerable speculation of late as to whether H. E. Spear would remain in Pittsville or not. On Saturday last, however, he informed us that he had rented the new I. O. O. F. building and would be taking possession there about November 1.

Dr. Boorman of Grand Rapids was in the city Wednesday afternoon in consultation with Dr. Morse of Lathrop over the condition of Mr. Lundey, who is dangerously ill with rheumatism and typhoid fever.

Dr. and Mrs. Houghton and family left Tuesday for Valders, Manitowish county, where they will spend six weeks or two months.

Fearful Odds Against Him.

Bedridden, alone and destitute. Such is the condition of an old man, called by name of J. J. Havens, Verdules, O. For years he was troubled with kidney disease and neither doctors nor medicines gave him relief. At length he tried Electric Bitters, and put him on his feet in short order and now he testifies: "I am on the road to complete recovery." Best on earth for liver and kidney troubles and for constipation and bowel complaints. Only 50c. Guaranteed by Daly Drug & Jewelry Co.

One of the most important requirements in a medicine to be given to small children should be that it is pleasant to take. Bad tasting medicines destroy the stomach, destroy the appetite and it is extremely difficult to get children to take them. The pleasant flavor of Re-Go Tonic Laxative Syrup, the certain cure for dyspepsia, constipation and biliousness, pleases the most sensitive person and is the ideal laxative for young children. 25c. 50c. and $1.00 bottles at Sam Church and John E. Daly drugists.

First Congregational Church.

Rev. B. J. H. Shaw will preach in the Congregational church both morning and evening next Sunday. Those will be the last services. Mr. Shaw will hold in this city.

Milladore has Some Interesting Sights.

(From the Marshfield News.)

Milladore hasn't changed much in the past ten years. It has never attained its majority to become a village. About 250 is the average population. In many respects it is a good town and plenty large enough for the resources it draws from. George Homer has been there since the place was christened and no hungry man ever went to Milladore but has reason to thank George and his good wife for the hospitality he received in their little home those many years. They recently disposed of their hotel which is much regretted by the traveling public.

There are several queer items of interest in Milladore. First among them is a butcher shop conducted by a woman. Mrs. Anton Gehlert is the lady at the block or even in the slaughter house as the average male butcher. She understands the trade thoroughly and from years of practice with the saw and knife dishes up the different cuts as the women were born for butchers instead of housekeepers and dressmakers. Being able to kill and dress an ox one would suppose she would not be frightened by a little mouse but in this she disqualifies her mainly traits.

A turn around the corner and you come to the cheese factory. It is owned by E. P. Emory and is very much like all other factories of the kind with the exception that the one operating it is a woman. Miss Mary Rader is a graduate of the Madison dairy school and is not only a cheese maker but an expert in the business. At the time she graduated the state press saw many complimentary things about Miss Rader as she stands singly and alone in this state as the only one of her sex capable of teaching and operating a factory.

Another item of interest found there is a bed of ginseng. It would do the heart of a Chinaman good to see it growing with its wide, deep green leaves surmounted by a cluster of fire-red berries. It is a pretty plant but its root that brings the money. The bed covers a space of 20 by 40 feet. In its wild state it only grows when hid from the sunlight and to prepare for it, sheds covered on all four sides and top are built and in this darkened place it thrives. James Kenyon, the owner of the ginseng at Milladore, has demonstrated the fact that the culture of this much sought after plant can be made a most profitable business. Each stalk bears from 12 to 15 seeds which are worth two cents each while the dried root is a ready market at $6 and $8 a pound. But the reader must not get a false idea as to raising a crop of ginseng. It will take nearly five years from the time the seed is planted until it is ready to harvest.

J. Verhulst, the leading merchant of the place, has recently completed a 47x60 ft. addition to his store. Since moving there two years ago he has more than doubled his business and with the additional room he will have a most complete store.

Suggestions for Cataloging a Small Library.

Accession List.

Blank books for keeping this record may be had of State Department at Madison (Call for "Record Book for Township Libraries").

Begin by writing in this book, a list of all books in the library at present, filling in as to cost, time of purchase, etc., so far as possible. As new books are purchased, add them to this list giving time of purchase, cost, etc., as suggested in record book. Number them in order as you write them and write this number in the book on any certain page, as page 15. In this way this record book will always show number of books in the library and approximate value of library.

Labeling.

Use Deminon's double adhesive gummed label A44, at 20 cents per thousand (Democrat Printing Co., Madison). Paste label on back of book two inches from lower edge. First notation place with ammonia, thus removing plain of book so label will stick. On the label write catalogue number, as found below.

Cataloging.

Group books into general classes as Biography, History, etc., according to the following classification:

Science and Nature Study

Geography and Travel

History and Civics

Biography

Literature

Fiction

Miscellaneous

Explanation of how to use.

The letters given in the table classify books and group them on shelves. With this classification number books in each class, 1, 2, 3, etc. For instance Life of Washington might be B-42 meaning it is volume 42 under biography. Write this classification number on label already pasted on book. Either keep a separate note book of this shelf-cataloging, using certain pages for history, geography, etc., and giving name of book shelf number, etc., or record this shelf number in your note of the book in the accession list. Use shelf number to record books loaned as well as to give your shelf arrangement. (Use index link on book labels.)

A Wagon Wonder.

The dealer who has never seen the Mackinnon wagon has something to learn about the wagon business. While the Mackinnon wagon is comparatively new to the trade it is the product of a concern that has been producing wagon material for other manufacturers for years. Mr. Mackinnon, the inventor, has made a long study of the wagon business and has produced a wagon that is destined to have a large sale, because it is different from other wagons and the difference is in valuable features that at once appeal to the purchaser. It is, in fact, a wagon that stands in a class by itself. An essential feature of a good wagon is the hub. The hub of the Mackinnon is completely iron clad. It cannot check, cannot become water-soaked and rot, the spokes cannot get loose and rattle. There are but two fellows in each wheel and they are straight grain and bent, not saved, and consequently there is no cross grain timber to split under the pressure of a heavy load or a sudden jar. Another important feature is the axle. This is made of two pieces of wood and a steel center, the steel center passing vertically through the axle and all riveted together with a steel plate covering both the top and bottom and riveted to the vertical steel center every two inches, thus giving a bridge truss to the axle, and the company guarantees a capacity of three tons on a three-inch wagon. It is claimed that the breaking strain is twice that of a hickory axle of the ordinary wagon of the same size. The bolster is steel covered and has a pressed steel bolster stake which is strongly secured to the bolster—no rattling of bolster stakes. The Mackinnon has numerous other features equally interesting to the dealer and user of wagons—Implement Trade Journal.

Notice to Correspondents.

Correspondents to the Tribune are hereby requested to have their items in the mail in time so that they will reach this city by Tuesday night or Wednesday morning. Special instructions cannot be given each case as it cannot always be told just how long it should take to reach this city from a certain point, but if a correspondent's items are in the habit of getting here too late for the paper for which they are being mailed too late. A little care along this line will do much to make the items more interesting to the readers in the respective towns.

Unclaimed Letters.

Wm. S. Brown, Dr. F. A. Goldrick, Mark Hummon, Mrs. Wm. Hopper, Heogard Jensen, Myrtle Charlier, Mary E. Fuller, Mrs. S. D. Johnson, Mrs. Ella O. Marks, Miss Alla Peters.

Seven Doctors Agree.

Mr. Jacob Sekaner of Fountain City Wis., writes: "Gloria Tonic cured me of rheumatism after suffering 33 years and after seven doctors agreed that I was incurable. Daly Drug & Jewelry Co."

Broke an Arm.

A son of John Tomczyk broke an arm on Friday while at play with some companions at the Polish school on the west side. The fracture was reduced by a surgeon and the little fellow is getting along as well as could be expected.
